Agriculture in First Place
A writer in the agricultural press says that agriculture is right now the important problem in this country—the problem of the manufacturer and the merchant, the banker and general public, just as much as it is the problem of the farmer. He believes that agriculture, above all industries, is entitled to some constructive publicity. "It needs boosting," he says. "It can not get along without it and still keep up with the times."

Life of the Typical American Woman in Her Thirties Is a Tragedy.

By W. L. GEORGE, British Man of Letters

To me, the life of the American woman in her thirties is a tragedy. When the novelty of married life is gone she instinctively begins to want something else to fill her life. What she desires above all else is love and companionship, and these are the only things on earth her husband denies her.

One hears of the devotion of the American husband, slaving from early morning until late at night, denying himself all social pleasures and directing all his energies to "making his pile." It is usually between the ages of thirty and forty-five that his "pile" is made.

He loves her no less, but, like the Russian peasant and his ikon, he forgets his adoration in his business and consequently the wife suffers. Until the American husband realizes this essential and overwhelming desire of his wife and gives her love and companionship at the same time she will continue to suffer.

CULL YOUR FLOCK

(From Farm Bureau News)

This is the season of the year for farmers to cull out the hens that are unprofitable. Upon investigation it will be found that some hens have already started to molt. It has been found from trap nest records that the hens which molt between May 15th and September 15th take longer to shed their feathers and grow new ones than the hens that are late molters. Late molting hens, between November 15th and January 1st, usually drop most of their feathers at about the same time and new ones take their place almost immediately; often within six weeks, allowing the hen to resume her egg production with a minimum of lost time. The early molting hen sheds her feathers very slowly and spends her time singing and preening her new clothes in the sun instead of working for exercise and for food production.

Too frequently when hens are depending on to hatch in the spring, time is lost and some hatches do not come off until June. Pullets from these late hatched broods have to combat the hot weather, lice, mites, and chiggers, therefore they are not mature when cold weather comes on and maturity is halted. The pullet sheds around the flock as a runt until the next spring, when she lays a few eggs and calls it a year's work. Since these late hatched pullets are not profitable it is best to cull out these runts at this time of the year to save money in food consumed and eliminate the weak birds which are usually the ones first effected with disease.

All crippled and unhealthy birds should be removed because they not only do not lay enough eggs to pay for their keep but if they are kept over, their eggs are too apt to get into the hatchings and poor vitality is handed down to the pullets that are to be kept for egg production.

Body capacity has a great deal to do with egg production, since room is necessary to hold food in sufficient quantities to produce eggs. The body capacity is shown by the length and breadth of the back, distance between the end of the breast bone and the lay bones, or pelvic arch, and the depth of the body in front. In the small breeds, the distance between the breast bone and the lay bones should be at least three fingers and the lay bones should be thin and spread apart so two fingers can be placed between them.

In summarizing, the following table should be of benefit to the culling work:

Official Proceedings of the Board of Commissioners

Dakota City, Neb., July 25, 1921
Board of county commissioners met pursuant to adjournment with the following members present: Will H. Rockwell, chairman; Neils Andersen and J. J. Lapsley, commissioners; Geo. W. Leamer, county attorney, and Geo. J. Boucher, county clerk, when the following business was transacted:

Clerk was directed to advertise for bids for rent of poor farm and boarding paupers for 1922.

The following resolution was adopted in regard to proposed deviation in State Road south of Homer:

"Resolved, that the State Engineer be requested to survey, locate and approve a deviation in the State Highway south of Homer, leaving the Highway as now located, north of Thacker's, going north, and pass over high ground west of old dam site, returning to the Road just north of old Combs grove. The deviation asked for the following reasons, in part:

1. It will obviate the necessity of crossing the creek twice, saving one new bridge at the estimated cost of $6,000, and doing away with another bridge that is too light for State Highway and would have to be rebuilt.

2. It will obviate the necessity of crossing flat where it was proposed to have spillway, or to throw up a high grade that would be constant source of trouble and damage on account of flood water.

3. It will save several thousand dollars in settling condemnation damages, the party on the mill place asking damages in an amount that the county cannot afford to pay.

4. It will be cheaper to maintain, and safer, because straighter and on higher ground."

Order was made allowing and locating the Lussier Road as follows: Commencing at a point at the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of Section 4, Township 27, range 7 East of the 6th P. M., running thence west on the north line of Section 4, 1320 feet to the half Section line of Section 33, thence north on said line 2235 feet, thence in a northeasterly direction 300 feet, thence in a northwesterly direction 300 feet, thence almost north 1150 feet, thence northwest 236 feet, thence in a northerly direction to the public road on the north line of Section 33, intersecting said road about the middle of Northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of said section, and there terminate.

Clerk was directed to return the Frank Lussier road deposit, the said road having been finally determined and located.

The second quarterly report of Geo. J. Boucher, County Clerk, showing fees collected during second quarter amounting to $805.25, and the Treasurer's receipt showing same turned into County Treasurer's hands, as required by law, was approved.

Bond of Meiford M. Lothrop, deputy sheriff, approved.

FARM WOMAN'S CREED.

(From Harrison County Farm Bureau)
The committee on Farm Woman's Creed submitted the following, which was unanimously adopted:

I will take time each day for rest, recreation, self-improvement and the enjoyment of my family:

I will be cleanly, according to the dictates of sanitation, but not over-anxious about dust and dirt.

I will feed my family wholesome food, but will not make a common practice of squandering my time and abusing the family's digestion with complex dishes and delicate pastries.

I will endeavor daily to promote my own good health, observing diet, exercise, care of the body and temperate living.

I will make Sunday a day of rest and not a day for big dinners, which necessitate much cooking and dish-washing.

I will endeavor not to worry over the past which is gone; nor the future which is not mine, but will wisely improve the present which is all that I have.

I will not only help in community meetings, but where it is necessary, I will take the initiative in starting such organization realizing that the spirit of cooperation and unity so much needed among farmers, can not be fostered in any other way.

I will concern myself especially with our schools; the teacher; the election of board members, and will endeavor to visit them several times a year.

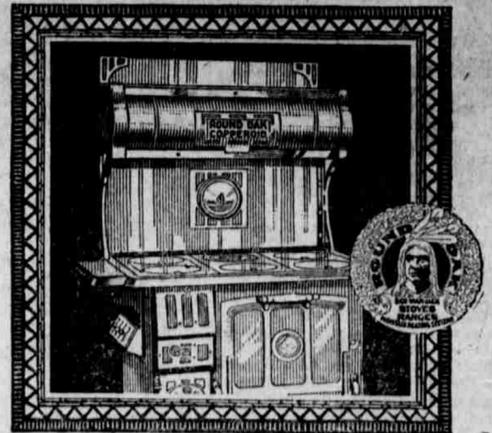

In all that I do I will try to be governed more by what my conscience has said to me, than by what my neighbors may say about me.

I will dress simply, sensibly and in accordance with good taste.

I will endeavor to feel a just pride in my home, my community and my husband's business.

Ever Seen a Range Built as of Solid Gold?

We invite you to admire this new, practically everlasting coal and wood range with its outer walls and high chest built of a golden metal that makes it the counterpart in appearance of a range built of solid gold! Its beauty is indescribable—it must be seen. Nothing like it has ever witnessed. And the new metal—heavy, thick "copperoid"—retains its golden color, is not discolored by heat, cleans easily, defies rust, does not chink, crack or break. See it and marvel!

ROUND OAK COPPEROID CHIEF RANGE

Great production has priced this new beauty surprisingly low. And the price is guaranteed. Terms arranged.
